When It Rains, and then it Pours...

Last match of the season, and a BBQ weekend, but the skies over Manila were black, and as the players began their warm up, down she came. Perhaps the bloke upstairs was unhappy with Aaron "The Hitman" Holbrook pulling on a Eureka jumper in this final game, or maybe it was Copey in a Dingoes kit....There was a lot of energy in the cooler temperatures, and with just 3 weeks to the Asian Championships. The Dingoes precision seemed dampened by the pouring rain and the howling wind. With the Hitman giving the Eureka some rare drive out of the center, they were able to make the most of their opportunities. Admittedly, poor kicking in the unpredictable wind dogged both sides. Steve Arthur was forced off the field with a split-webbing injury likely to keep him out of the Asian Champs. The Eureka held the Dingoes goal-less in the first half, and then pulled on their kicking boots in the second half to run out 18 point victors to end the season on a high (admittedly a bit like scoring a birdie on the 18th in a round of 130, but that's golf, and this is footy!).

How They Lined Up...

Ben Casey, Derek Ackary, Steve Arthur, Aaron Holbrook, Winner Santos, Brett Marshall, Peter Dolinsky, Richard Spence, Fred Morrow, Xandro Molato

In Conclusion...

Goodbye to the 2005 regular season, and now things get serious for the Asian Championships. Will the Eagles fly??
